PRESS RELEASE

Michigan Lawyer's Weekly Selects Sarah Robertson
As a Leader in Law

DETROIT –November 3, 2005 – Sarah Robertson, an attorney with Garan Lucow Miller, PC, was honored in the October 31 , 2005 issue of Michigan Lawyers Weekly as an "Up-And-Coming" attorney. Ms. Robertson specializes in appellate practice.

The "Leaders in Law" series is featured once a year, and for 2005, there are a total of five (5) attorneys throughout Michigan selected for the "Up-And-Coming" category. The editors of Michigan Lawyers Weekly make the selection based on nominations received earlier in the year. Attorneys with less than ten years of experience in the legal field are eligible for this honor.

Ms. Robertson was noted for her "specialized knowledge of open and obvious and serious impairment matters," in addition to her published court appeals decision Frierson v. West American, 261 Mich App 732; 683 NW2d 695 (2004). Beyond her legal responsibilities, Robertson is a missionary who travels once a year to South Africa for two weeks as part of a medical mission team. She has traveled to other countries in similar missions including Japan, Korea and Mexico.

Ms. Robertson graduated with her B.A. from the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio and her J.D. from Wayne State University. She is a member of the State Bar of Michigan and the Michigan Appellate Practice Section.
